

Hair in My Hamburger Skit

(People enter a restaurant and are seated at a table by a waiter. As each person orders he should turn his head to the audience and clearly and slowly say the order. No one stands or sits with a back to the audience!)

Each person orders something . . . try some very different foods on the order like sauteed escargot (snails), grilled calamari (octopus), head cheese (pig's brains), pickled pig's feet etc.

One person says: "I'd like a burger and fries, please. With a Pepsi."

The waiter says: "Very good, it will be right up."

(The waiter exits and returns soon with imaginary plates of food.)

Waiter: "Here you are, everyone. Enjoy!"

(The waiter then moves off a ways, to serve other tables.)

(All the people pantomime actions of eating their food. The person who took a bite of the hamburger enjoys it until he stops and pretends to pull a very long hair out of his mouth that is stuck in his teeth.)

The person with the hamburger says: "Yuck! Waiter! There's a hair in my hamburger!"

Waiter: "Ooh, nasty! Oh, I am so sorry, Sir. Here, give me that plate, and I will bring you a fresh meal." The waiter goes back into the kitchen.

The people at the table talk about how wonderful their food is and how awful it is that the one person had a hair in his hamburger.

Waiter: "Here, Sir. I brought you new fries also. Something about your order made me think to get you curly fries!"

The person with the hamburger: "Thank you, I think."

(He starts eating again and finds another hair that s/he pulls out of his teeth showing that it is really long and curly.)

The person with the hamburger: "Waiter! I found ANOTHER hair. I want to speak to the cook - NOW!"

Hair in My Hamburger Skit

(The waiter runs offstage and brings back the cook who looks to be forming hamburger in his hands and who is shirtless.)

The person with the hamburger says: "What is the problem? There's been a hair in each of the hamburgers I ordered! How do you make these hamburgers?"

Cook: I make these burgers the same way every time. See?

(Do this very slowly while facing the audience!

Roll a ball of hamburger in your hands.

Puts it in your armpit.

Squeezes your arm down very dramatically before holding up the hamburger.)
