

Pink Cadillac Skit

(Any number of hunters walk on stage and look at the guide who is laying center stage with his ear to the ground as if listening for something. If you have a large number of campers in the skit you could have 2 or 3 guides doing this together. They would have to lay close to each other.

A lot of the humor in this skit could depend on the looks on their faces as they are laying there . . . big eyes moving back and forth, eyebrows raised etc. You can add hunters or guides or subtract based on the number of your campers. Just add other appropriate lines or combine them as needed. Be sure to encourage the campers to ham it up and make dramatic motions etc.)

Hunter #1: What's with this (or these) lazy good for nothing guide?

Hunter #2: We're paying him good money to help us hunt and he's laying down!

Hunter #3: Where did you get this guy?

Hunter #4: He's laying in the middle of the road!

Hunter #5: Relax. My buddy said he was really good.

Hunter #6: Ya, relax! He's probably listening for wild animals.

(All of the hunters walk over to the guide)

Hunter #1: Wellllllllll!

Hunter #2: Well, what is it?

(Other hunters strike poses that look like they're waiting for an answer.)

Guide #1: (without moving) Two guys in a pink Cadillac.

Guide #2: The grill is missing and it has a broken headlight.

Guide #3: The paint is scraped on the right fender.

Guide #1: The driver is wearing a green coat and a cowboy hat.

Guide #2: The other guy is wearing a brown coat and a stocking cap.

Hunter #5: See? I told you he was good!

Hunter #6: Amazing! You mean you can tell all that just from listening to the ground?

Guides:(This is said all together very slowly while looking at the audience without moving their bodies.) No way! They just ran over us!
