

Yaputchcha! Skit

Indian Chief is sitting center stage.

Each brave approaches the chief in turn...

Brave: Oh great Chief, is it time for Yaputchcha?

Chief: (looks at sun, drops some dirt to check wind, sniffs the air, ... whatever you can think of.) (Speak very slowly . . .) No, the time is not right.

After each brave comes in and asks the chief and the response is ,
“no . . .” each one sits down in a circle that includes the chief.

Finally, when the last brave asks, the Chief checks things out and replies.

Chief: Yes, it is now time for Yaputchcha!

Everyone cheers, stands up in a straight line and begins the hokey-pokey - (Sing the words slowly and loudly and clearly!!)

"Yaputchcha right foot in, Yaputchcha right foot out, Yaputchcha right foot in and shake it all about..." and then runs off the stage.
