

Infantry (Infant Tree) Skit

A person runs in to a camp of soldiers yelling "The infantry is coming! The infantry is five miles away!"

The soldiers look up, mumble, and act nervous.

Another person runs into the camp of soldiers yelling "The infantry is coming! The infantry is one mile away!"

The soldiers stand up and start gathering their gear.

Another person runs into the camp of soldiers yelling "The infantry is coming! They're just over the hill!"

All the soldiers scream and run away, opposite direction that the scout came from.

Two people run in from the direction the other people ran came from, carrying an infant tree. They run after the soldiers.