

Worst Breath Skit

1 good-humored victim.

4 or more campers

a blanket or jacket to cover one camper

One camper is the dragon with horrid breath and is under a blanket.

Another camper is the circus caller getting brave people to pay money to take a look at the dragon.

The rest are customers planted in the audience.

Script:

Camper #1: I'm looking for some very brave souls to face my hideous dragon. No one has ever survived an encounter with this dragon. Who will be a volunteer?

(a camper in this cabin group is chosen to come forward)

Camper#1: Yes, sir, you appear to be quite brave. All you need to do is peek under the blanket and say "Hello!" to my dragon.

(The volunteer lifts the edge of the blanket and says, "" When the dragon loudly eplies, "Hellooooo" with a long breath, the volunteer makes ghastly coughing noises, stumbles to the side out of the way, and collapses.

Camper #1: How about another volunteer?

(S/he continues taking the rest of the campers in the cabin and then finally calls on the victim)

When the victim lifts the blanket and says, "Hello!" the dragon coughs long and very dramatically and collapses.