

Fluff & Jelly, a skit for staff

Two people sit on a bench and start talking about how dry, itchy, and bug bitten their skin is.

One claims that the best choice of treatment is marshmallow fluff and begins to rub the substance all of their arms and legs...

The second claims that jelly is better and does the same thing.

The whole time each explains why it is a good product and the various ways they use it.

This gets more fun when each begins to harass his partner by saying things like, "Did you wash your face this morning? I hear fluff does wonders as a facial." (Then smear the other person.)

"You know jelly makes my hair glossy... you look like you could use a little yourself!" (Jelly in the hair.)

Continue with other funny lines.

The skit ends with a third person walking up with two pieces of bread... they exclaim "I love Fluff and Jelly!!!" and wipes a piece of bread on each person ... puts them together and takes a bite.

The kids will talk about it for years.

The participants should be sure to wear clothes that they don't mind getting dirty, are easy to get off, and may want to make sure that they can sneak off for a shower right away.
